

JENNIFER KAMMEYER
COMMUNICATION COACH

Communication Workshops

Gain Confidence

Develop Professionally

With insightful content and captivating methods, Jennifer leads workshops on a wide range of communication topics to improve professional and interpersonal communication.

Workshops are customized to meet each organization's needs and to engage their employees

- Professional Communication
- Public Speaking
- Mindful Communication
- High-Value Meetings
- Media Training
- Compelling Presentations

My Approach

Workshop development starts with business objectives and the needs of the particular audience. The custom content I create incorporates organizational goals and corporate messages. The activities are specifically designed to move the particular participants' skills up a step from their current level.

My Philosophy

Grounded in decades of industry and academic experience, I believe learning occurs when people are actively engaged and have skin in the game. Because I know professionals are busy and have a lot on their minds, I create workshops that really draw them in and teach them how what they learn can be immediately applied to their jobs.

Getting Started

Typically I work with CEOs, team leads, or human resources to hold a workshop at an organization. If there is a communication issue that is hindering top performance in your organization, I will gladly meet with you to explore how we can create a workshop that addresses your specific immediate needs.

“Workshop participants tell me that their time with Jennifer is well spent and enjoyable. They learn new applicable techniques and appreciate her real-time insights and feedback. It is hard for deal folks to pause their day for professional development, so it has to be worthwhile.” - VP Human Resources, private equity firm